INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY EXECUTIVE CERTIFICATE

Purpose

The purpose of the Executive Certificate in Instructional Design Technology is to prepare postgraduate students with skills in research and analysis of educational technology. Students will use a biblical worldview to analyze a variety of approaches to learning, develop instructional systems to meet the needs of diverse learning populations, and modify existing learning systems to align with current and future trends in traditional and online educational formats. This non-licensure certificate is intended to better equip teachers, counselors, and administrators to serve students.

Program Learning Outcomes

The student will be able to:

- Evaluate relevant technologies for meaningful application in instructional design.
