Purpose

The Master of Arts in Teaching in Middle Education Curriculum and Education Specialist in School Curriculum and Instructional Planning program will allow teacher candidates with a bachelor's degree to obtain both a master's degree and an educational specialist degree, with eligibility for a Virginia teaching license, in a shorter financially responsible manner. Graduates will be prepared to successfully teach and lead in Christian, public, and private schools.

Program Learning Outcomes

The student will be able to:

- Formulate knowledge of learner development, learning differences, and learning environments.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the literature of the discipline area and the application of content to connect concepts and engage learners.
- Plan instruction using multiple methods of assessment and instructional strategies to develop a deep understanding of the content for middle level learners.
- Develop a Biblical worldview and professional responsibility through ongoing reflection and professional development experiences where opportunities are provided for leadership and collaboration with stakeholders.
- Evaluate historical, philosophical, and theoretical influences pertaining to curriculum and instruction.
- Incorporate assessment and data analysis to improve instructional practices and student outcomes.
