

MASTER OF ARTS IN GLOBAL & INTERCULTURAL LEADERSHIP (M.A.)

Purpose

The Master of Arts in Global and Intercultural Leadership program seeks to prepare students for effective engagement in intercultural careers and service. Students are trained in both intercultural theory (i.e., history, anthropology, worldview studies) and practical application (i.e., communication and leadership) to enable them to serve and lead in multicultural and global contexts.

Program Learning Outcomes

The student will be able to:

- Articulate a biblical theology of global leadership.
- Employ critical thinking skills in addressing current issues in global leadership.
- Analyze strategy and practice based on current research, knowledge of the literature of global leadership, and experience in the field.
