

SPECIAL EDUCATION MAJOR (B.ED.)

Purpose

The purpose of the Bachelor of Education in Special Education major is to prepare students for licensure in Special Education. Emphasis is placed on educational theory, pedagogy, behavioral interventions, and curriculum development for students with disabilities accessing the general curriculum. This program is defined by the federal guidelines, state guidelines of the Virginia Department of Education, the Counsel for Exceptional Children, and national accreditation. The guidelines for this major are subject to change based on federal and state regulations or national accreditation for the licensure of special education. This program leads to a Virginia license and is intended to prepare teachers to serve in Special Education classrooms.

Program Learning Outcomes

The student will be able to:

- Formulate knowledge of learner development, learning difference, and learning environment.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the discipline area and the application of content to connect concepts and engage learners.
- Plan instruction using multiple methods of assessment and instructional strategies to develop a deep understanding of the content for all learners.
- Develop a Biblical worldview and professional responsibility through ongoing reflection and professional development experiences where opportunities are provided for leadership and collaboration with stakeholders.
- Use evidence-based practices and student characteristics along with theory on human behavior and development to assess, plan, and teach individuals with exceptionalities.
